To Whom It May Concern:

As advisor of the Student Government Association, I attend weekly meetings of the SGA Cabinet. The bronze SuperFrog statue was an idea that Brent Folan brought to the group in the spring of 2012. During that time, he made a thorough and thoughtful effort to involve the Cabinet in every step of the process. He solicited bids/design ideas for the statue from multiple artists. These, including the prices quotes, were presented by Brent to Cabinet. Armed with design options and pricing, Cabinet voted on a design and selected Doug Roper as the artist in April 2012. I was present for this selection. Following the selection of Doug Roper, Brent got a contract from Mr. Roper. However, before I would authorize the contract to move forward within TCU's contract process, I requested and required that Brent conduct a vote of the Cabinet. This vote was necessary and required by the Student Body Code since this was an unbudgeted expense. According to the Student Body Code, Title 6, Chapter 6, Subsection 603, "All requests for unbudgeted funds shall be approved by the Cabinet or House of Student Representatives as a whole." A vote on the project took place in April 2012. Having witnessed both a vote on the artist and on the project, I deemed Cabinet to have upheld SGA's spending policies and sent the contract to Financial Services for processing.
